

Waste & Resource Management

Resource Management

By the implementation of measures in politics it is necessary to estimate an evaluate the measures taken. denkstatt supports municipal, regional, national as well as supranational institutions in matters related to environmental politics. With scientific accepted methods like material flow analysis influences of measures to air, water and soil can objectively be presented and evaluated.

Benefits

- Perspectives in politics in the fields of waste and environment
- Concrete strategic measures which can be short-, mid- or long-term implemented
- Preservation or improvement of basis of life and economics
- Strategic answers for main questions of sustainability
- Improvement of the quality of locations

Goals/Background

- Presentation of possibilities of measures in politics
- Detailed preparation of political measures
- Support by the implementation of measures

Why denkstatt

- we can offer objective solutions to questions about environmental politics
- we can estimate the effects of the measures in advance
- implemented measures can be evaluated objectively

Procedure

- Offer including concept, timetable, structure and costs of the project
- Identification of the system with the customer
- Data collection and calculation or modelling
- Interim report with analysis
- Identification of additional parameters or questions together with the customer
- Adaptation of calculation or model to the data
- Completed analysis and final report
- Presentation of results, workshops, publications

Selected References

- Municipality of Vienna
- Federal environment agency
- Ministry of Life
- Office of government of Styria
- Office of government of Upper Austria
- Federal Ministry of Economics and Labour
- Office of government of Lower Austria.